

Allowing Consumer Bankers Association members an "established business relationship" exemption on Indiana consumers is unacceptable. Consumers already receive too much information through mailings and online banking websites. The intrusion and data gathering of unwanted telemarketing is not best for the consumers. If any of my banks or affiliates begin telemarketing calls to my home, I will definitely switch all my funds and banking to a credit union.